DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In particular, the subject matter “a combining circuit for selecting one of the arithmetic logic unit and the register, and replacing a part of the data read from the memory with output data received from the selected one of the arithmetic logic unit and the register” as recited in claim 1, lines 7-10, and also in claim 7, is supported by the specification. The specification, especially, page 21, lines 10-20, and figure 15, do not describe a combining circuit having a functions as claimed. Further, the specification does not describe and, thus does not support of for the subject matter “a combining circuit for inserting unused data” as recited in claims 13, line 4.

3. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 2193

As per claim 1, the function of the “combining circuit” as recited on lines 7-10 appears misdescriptive since it is different from those disclosed in the specification. Claims 7 and 13 also have the same problem.

As per claim 16, the recitation “the part of the data read from the memory is replaced with an arithmetic result”, line 2, lacks sufficient antecedent basis.

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Chuong D. Ngo whose telephone number is (571) 272-3731. The examiner can normally be reached on Tuesday-Friday.
